Wesleyan Wins Dual Meet.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 12.-Wesleyan won its dual track games with Haverford College on Andrus Field this afternoon, 64 to 48 points. The Wesleyan record for the shot put was broken by Dearborn by one inch, his distance being 39 feet 6 inches. Wesleyan was strong in the sprints and the visitors in the distance runs and field events.

AMONG THE DARSMEN THIRD SEASON

The meeting to decide on the place for the next regatta of the Middle States' Association will be held tomorrow evening in New York, and Secretary David Brown says that the meeting will be more largely attended than ever before. The Potoma Boat Club of this city, which is behind the movement to bring the regatta to Washington, will be fully represented at the meeting, and it is believed it has a strong fighting chance to land the much-sought-after date. This regatts is held each year on Labor day, and always holds the record point of attendance, and hence is the only one that is, in a way, self-paying. New York is making a grand-stand fight to keep the regatta on the Harlem river this against New York. Chairman Zappone of the regatta committee is at present in New York working up the Potomac's boom. The Potomacs are going to lose two of their best carsmen, Capt. Carl Mueller and Mr. Edward Thompson, who in the next ten days will leave for Prescott, Aris., where they are to engage in mining. As both are capable carsmen and members of the senior crew of the Potomacs, their loss will be hard to replace just at present. hard to replace just at present.

The American Henley, as it is called, takes place Saturday, the 27th, and will be the first important rowing card of the year. The event takes place on the Schuyikill river at Philadelphia, and the stewards are sanguine that the akendance will eclipse any regatta ever held in America. The only entry from Washington will be Capt. Joseph T. Daly in single sculls. Baltimore will be represented by two eights from the Ariels, and a single sculler, Klate, from the Arundels.

The Decoration day regatta at New York is always largely attended, and this year will make it a red letter one if all the clubs put in an appearance according to promise. Capt. Joseph T. Daly will enter the junior sculls, going direct from the Henley at Philadelphia to the Harlem river.

The national association is continuing its work of getting rid of professional oarsmen and scullers. Last week it railroaded out Cody, the celebrated oarsman and sculler of the Harlem fiver, for professionalism.

Pending the election of a new captain of the Potomacs, made necessary by the resig-nation of Capt. Mueller, the proper author-ity has been vested in Mr. Joseph T. Daly to act until the board of governors fills the unexpired term of Capt. Mueller.

Coach Dempsey says that this year at least Georgetown 'Varsity will not row in the American Henley. This statement is made to offset the oft-repeated notices sent out by telegraph from Philadelphia that Georgetown would send its eights there to meet the other college crews.

The day's outing of the Analostan Club on Analostan Island last Sunday was a most enjoyable occasion.

GRAY'S RHYMES OF

THE ROAD AT SEA

Thomas Gray, C. B., was, says T. Rochen-cher Fleete, in Motor Print, and each one diamond and will try to fool the batters of them would promptly answer you that with his assortment of curves and shoots. he neither knew who Mr. Gray was, nor what, nor where. Yet for every man who undertakes to guide a boat Mr. Gray has done much; to him, more, perhaps, than to and Meister played last year and to this any other man, "those who go down to the list has been added Carrick, late of the sea in ships" are indebted for not alone the safety of themselves, but of other travelers upon the waters as well. Most all of you have heard of lists of historical in Washington as an exceptional player. dates being memorized by the aid of rhymes, but it may come as news to many that, in a sense, their safety, when on the water, may depend on a not unsimilar dewater, may depend on a not unsimilar device of memorizing. Every captain and mate is able to repeat a small set of verses which summarize the rule of the road on the ocean. These were composed by the late Mr. Thomas Gray, C. B., and—plus a little common sense—cover every possible eventuality in properly steering a boat.

The first of Mr. Gray's four rhymes applies to the case of two vessels meeting, and runs as follows:

and runs as follows:

"When both sidelights you see ahead.

Port your helm and show your red."

The sidelights are, of course, red and green, red being on the port side and green on the starboard. At first sight, then, it would appear that in following the advice "port your helm" you would not by any means "show your red." but your green. But "port your helm" does not imply that you are to steer the ship to port, but pre-cisely the opposite. To port the helm of a ship heads the vessel itself to starboard, ship heads the vessel itself to starboard, and vice versa—presumably a relic of the tiller days. Hence the confusion that a mere landlubber is apt to fall into when he hears the order, "Port!" and sees the man at the wheel calmly turning it and the vessel to starboard. It is evident, then, that "when both sidelights you see ahead" another vessel is an arreaching it an absolutely other vessel is approaching in an absolutely straight line toward your own, for if she were traveling in any other direction, at an angle to you or in a line parallel to your course, you would only be able to see one or other of her sidelights. Naturally, if you see her red on your port side, or her green on your starboard, she will pass youprovided she does not alter her courseperfect safety. This point is embodied in second couplet:

"Green to green, or red to red— Perfect safety—go shead." The third rhyme deals with a more com plicated question, namely, what to do when two boats are crossing. This, as Mr. Gray observes in a note, "is the position of observes in a note, "is the position of greatest danger; there is nothing for it but good lookout, caution and judgment.'
verse is a considerably longer one:

"If to your starboard red appear,
It is your duty to keep clear;
It is your duty to keep clear;
To net as judgment says is proper;
To port or starboard back, or stop her!
But when upon your port is seen
A steamer's starboard light of green,
There's not so much for you to do,
For green to port keeps clear of you."

TAKOMA PARK'S BALL TEAM.

Officers of the Association Elected Last Night.

A meeting of the Takoma Base Ball Association was held last night at the residence of Dr. A. V. Parsons. Takoma Park, when officers were elected for the ensuing year. Dr. Parsons was elected president of the association, Charles Haas vice president, Frank G. Favorite secretary and treasurer, J. H. Waters team manager, and Sam Brown captain. Mr. Waters has also been appointed official scorer of the league, and Henry Winslow official umpire. It is probable that the Takoma Base Ball Association will eventually develop into an association on a larger scale and similar to the one at Washington Grove, Maryland.

A meeting of the Montgomery County Base Ball League was held this week at the home of Mr. R. H. Walker, 420 B street northeast, when officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Dr. Jones: secretary, R. H. Walker; treasurer, Jones; secretary, R. H. Walker; treasurer, J. H. Williams. The board of managers will consist of the managers of the teams in the league, and is as follows: John Williams, Boyds; J. H. Waters, Takoma Park; E. C. Brewington, Kensington; W. L. Aud, Poolesville; R. H. Walker, Washington Grove; John Martin, Rockville.

A set of by-laws was presented and a schedule for the first half of the season adopted at the meeting. The opening games of the league will be played Decoration day, as follows: Poolesville base ball team at Takoma Park; Boyds base ball team at Rockville, and Washington Grove base ball team at Kensington. At a meeting to be held July 3 the schedule for the balance of the season will be adopted. The season will close Labor day at Washington Grove, when a double-header will be played in connection with the athletic meet which will be held on the "day".

IN THE FIELD

Reorganization of the Marquette League .- First Game Tomorrow.

The third season of the Marquette Base Ball League will open at McDevitt's Field, Lincoln and Rhode Island avenues, tomorrow, when the St. Patrick and Immaculate Conception teams, old rivals, will

The league is composed of the same teams as last year, with the exception of the St. Paul, which dropped out, the vacancy being immediately filled by the St. Peter aggregation. The other five teams year, but there is a decided opposition to such, and Washington is reaping all votes are St. Martin, St. Patrick, St. Vincent, Trinity and Immaculate Conception. Last year the race for the pennant was interesting from the start, St. Martin, St. Vincent and St. Paul putting up a fine battle for the first notch, which the firstsamed team won after a desperate struggle. The St. Patrick, Immaculate Conception and Trinky clubs were evenly balanced until late in the season, when the Trinity nine took a slump and fell behind, finishing last.

This year the directors have been careful to balance the teams, and consequently when the umpire calls "play bail" it will be a guess as to who will pull out ahead when the season closes.

The age limit has been removed and the Marquette League will now be on an equal Marquette League will now be on an equal footing with the other amateur leagues of the city. Good umpires have been secured, and the field has been rolled, scraped and leveled until it is in fine shape, while the outfield is as good as any in the city.

With all these favorable conditions, and the Brookland cars running to the grounds, the Marquette League will open the season in much better condition than it did last year. All of the games last year were well attended, on some occasions the crowds being the largest in the city, and the directors have made arrangements to handle an immense crowd. Marquette League will now be on an equal mmense crowd.

St. Martin Strong.

The St. Martin club, last year's champions, will again be under the direction of the Rev. E. Hannan, whose ability as a manager is beyond question. The pitching staff of the North Capitol street club will be the same as last year, Lee Hilliary and Bernard Gallagher, with the addition of James O'Brian, formerly of Trinity, and Grant Goodman, who is now playing with the Technical High School team. Harry Howeli, Jesse Bagette, Ray Schaffer, Walter Gallagher, William Waple and Charles Dugan, all with the champions last year, will again appear in St. Martin uniforms, while Edward Harris, who played with the champion Gunton Temple team two years champion Gunton Temple team two years ago, and Harry Zannelli, shortstop for St. Patrick last year, have been added. Hurley and Edelin, now playing with the Rock Hill College team, will play with St. Martin when their college season comes to a

With this line-up there is no doubt that St. Martin will be hard to beat, and the five other teams with pennant-winning aspirations will have to hustle to get the St. Vincent Unchanged.

With popular Joe Turner at the helm this year the St. Vincent club will enter the field with practically the same line-up as last year. "Lefty" Wooden, the well-known slab artist of the Turnerites, who Ask nine out of ten launch owners who was their mainstay in the box last season, the four made during the season. Moffit Ryan, Mack, Coleman, Spaulding, Immaculate Conception team, who was last year the heaviest hitter in the league Mullen, another good one, will also play St. Patrick's Good Prospects.

St. Patrick will have a new manager this season, Frank Callen. Mr. Callen besides being a good ball player, is an able manager and a general favorite among the players. With some one to manage the team on the field the St. Patrick club will prob-ably play 50 per cent better ball. Fuse, Marceron, McDonald, Regan, Shaffiot, Cassasa and Lombardy will be with the team again this season, while the club will be strengthened by the addition of Bonavres formerly with St. Martin, and McLoughlin and Gallagher, fresh from Allentown, Pa. Immaculate's Good Material.

John Daley, manager of the Immaculates, nas a good team, and has one of the finest pitching staffs in the league, if not the best, With Whiting of Rockville, Simons of Brookland and Smith and McDermott, the immaculate pitching staff looks good. Smith pitched for the Technical High School team last year and made quite a reputation as a clever twirler. Besides those named the team will be composed of Williard Camalier, one of the best catchers in the clty; William Fickling. William Gallagher, Joe Kelley, John Rodler, Henry Mess, Ray-mond Brennan and John Daley. Dyer and Sagrario, two new men, are said to be excellent players.

Capitol Hill Represented.

For the first time since the league was organized, Capitol Hill will be represented by a base ball team. The St. Peter's club will have a fine field to pick from, and at the present time presents the following strong line-up: George and Ernst Coliflower, now playing with the Georgetown Preps; Edward Madden, one of the best pitchers in the Departmental League; Rex Frye, the heavy hitting catcher on the Met-copolitan team last season—James Fitzpatick and Michael McCormick, who play with he Columbia A. C. team; Morris McKeever, Joe Quigley, Leo Sullivan, Milburn Dona-hue, Ford Ricem and A De Sales Langley, who will manage the team.

The schedue of games for the week is as follows: May 14.-St. Patrick agt. Immaculate. May 15.-St. Peter agt. St. Vincent. May 16.-St. Martin agt. Trinity. May 17.-St. Patrick agt. St. Vincent. May 18.-St. Martin agt. St. Peter's. May 19 .- Trinity agt. Immaculate.

Mr. N. T. Worley will score the games. WHAT A CATCHER SHOULD BE

Jack Warner, the catcher of the Detroits, said recently, discussing the position he holds: "One of the important diamond positions is that behind the bat. A catcher must have base ball intelligence, grit, accuracy, height, weight, and a strong arm. "Any catcher with these requisites, and if he can hit some besides, is sure to hold his own in any company. "Headwork is a prime factor. A catcher must work in harmony with his pitcher, and there must be a perfect understanding between the two. He must signal care-fully, and watch every move on the dia-mond. A catcher adds to his worth by studying the batsman and acquainting himself with the weak points of the hitter. After you know these, it is a comparatively easy matter to fool a number of them. "It is necessary to have grit. Time and again the ball is caught on the unprotected hand, and it hurts, especially when the hand is already swollen. At critical stages it is necessary to use any means to stop a wild pitch. I have stopped them stop a wild pitch. I have stopped them with my shins many times.

"I contend that a catcher ought to be tall, because it gives his pitcher confidence. It is much easier to throw to a tall person. A short backstop keeps the pitcher in fear of throwing over his head.

"Weight counts, because it enables the catcher to act as an obstacle at the plate. The runner must be blocked.

"A catcher must also be accurate and have a strong arm to top off his work. Otherwise the players on the opposing team would run the bases like wild men. It takes a lot of practice to make the

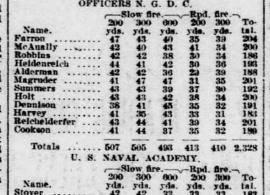

WIN FROM THE MIDDIES

DISTRICT RIFLEMEN VICTORIOUS AT ANNAPOLIS, MD.

The rifle team of the National Guard of the District of Columbia commenced its season auspiciously at Annapolis, Md., today, on the United States Naval Academy range, by administering a decided defeat to the team of midshipmen which won so decisively from the Maryland rifle team last Saturday. The conditions were perfect for shooting, and it is regarded as surprising was at 200 yards rapid fire.

The match began at 11:20 o'clock this norning. After the 200 yards' slow fire score was completed luncheon, prepared by the midshipmen, was enjoyed. The work before the targets was resumed and continued without interruption until 4 o'clock, when the match closed with the District team the winner by 48 points. Gen. James A. Drain, adjutant general of the state of Washington and a member of the national board for the promotion of rifle practice, and Col. E. J. Dimmick, accom-panied the District team to Annapolis and were interested spectators of the contest. A team representing the 71st New York Regiment will shoot a match similar to the contest of today Saturday next with the middles, after which a revolver match be-tween a team from the 71st New York and officers of the United States Marine Corps stationed in this city will be shot in the District National Guard rifle gallery. BROWN AND GEORGETOWN PLAYED 11-INNING TIE GAME.

Special Dispatch to The Star PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 12.-In a very erratic game of base ball here today Brown and Georgetown played an eleveninning tie game, the contest finally being called on account of darkness. Brown played very loosely in the field, making nine errors, the majority of which were costly and directly responsible for Georgetown's tallies. The visitors put up a good all-around exhibition, fielding snappily for the most part and hitting freely. Maycock, who pitched the whole game for the visitors, was touched up rather freely, but succeeded in pulling out of several dangerous holes by excellent twirling. Once in the ninth inand Jones in succession. Maycock used a slow curve ball to great advantage, and kept his head at critical times. Smith on third played well and figured in several lightning assists. E. Dugan in left field covered a great deal of territory and caught files repeatedly with men on the Georgetown hit Nourse and Tift for eight safe hits, including a two-bagger by Devlin, which scored three runs in the tenth. Brown scored two runs in the first in-ning on a home run by Paine with Hoye on second and one more tally came in the third on a hit and two stolen bases by Hoye, coupled with a long fly to Dugan. There was nothing doing after that for Brown until the tenth, when four hits, a base on balls and a retirement at first re sulted in four runs.

Georgetown began tallying in the second.

Maloney's fly was muffed by Hoye. Monahan sacrificed and Elrod threw wild to Hoye to catch Maloney, who tried for third.
Maloney scored on the misplay. Again in the fourth Georgetown tied the score.
Maloney hit to right and Monahan got another. Dugan bunted and Nourse threw wild to third base, Mahoney scoring. On the retirement of J. Dugan at first Manoney scored. Georgetown did nothing after that until the tenth, when four runners crossed the plate on hits by Maloney, Monahan and Devlin, a base on balls and an error. Brown had a man on third in the eleventh with only one out, but the visitors' fast play spoiled chances for a score.

MARYLAND COLLEGE SPORTS.

Meet Won Decisively by St. John's of Annapolis. special Dispatch to The Star.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 12 .- The first annual field and track meet of the Marvland Intercollegiate Association was held here this afternoon, and was won decisively by the athletes of St. John's. Western Maryland was a creditable second. Washington College of Chestertown sent some entries, but did not figure largely in the point winning. The star performers for St. John's were Stevens, Sinciair and Warfield. The former won the 220-yard run, was first in his heat of the fifty-yard dash and second in the 100-yard dash. Edwin Warfield, jr., son of the governor of Maryland, was first in the 220-yard hurdle and second in the quarter of a mile. His performance is all the more remarkable as he is short a few months of fifteen years of age.

Adams of Western Maryland won two firsts, the pole vault and broad jump. Turner of the same college won the quarter in good shape, but Marcus, the star sprinter, did not do his usual good work.

Summary of points: St. John's College, 32 points; Western Maryland College, 42 points; Washington College, 14 point.

WHIGHAM HAS PLAYED GOLF IN MANY COUNTRIES

CHICAGO, May 12.-To have played golf in China, India, Persia, Turkey and France, in addition to Great Britain and America, that the totals were not much larger than is probably the experience of but one golfthe footings indicate. The only distance er in the world-Henry James Whigham where the midshipmen showed superior skill This comparatively young man, who in 1806 and 1807 won the championship of the United States, has doubtless played golf under the skies of more nations of the orient and occident than any other man. Mr. Whigham, since his victory in the amateur championship at Wheaton in 1897. in the semi-finals of which he had downed the dreaded Douglas, has won fame as a war correspondent in Cuba first and later in South Atrica during the Boer war.

"I did not see much golf in South Africa," said Mr. Whigham, "because, you see, we were rather busily engaged otherwise. But was given something of a thrill one morning to find a cleek on the battlefield of Moddor river. The district is a great resort for the Kimberley people, and it hap-pened that that part of the engagement was fought on the links.
"Odd that I should be reminded of the game in that way, wasn't it? But, as a matter of fact, there is no country nowadays where one may not find something of golf. However crude the courses may be, they are there—the Briton, as has often been said, carries his sports with him as well as his other customs.

"I did not go back to London for two years, and after the South African war went to China. At Shanghai there is a good course of nine holes, laid out on turf within the race course. There are also links at Hankow, six hundred miles up the Yang-tse-Kiang, and the foreign residents of Peking, have a course there, but they play almost entirely in summer; as I was there in winter I did not go out.

"In the late fall of 1902 I went to India, and arrived in Calcutta in time to take part in the tournament for the champion-ship of India. I had no clubs with me and bought a set. The large number of English residents in India, of course, means that there must be excellent golfers there to the semi-finals, when I was put out by Macbeth of the Royal Liverpool Golf Club of Hoylake, a player of considerable skill. "At Bushiro, on the Persian guif, I played over a course laid out by the Brit-ish residents," said Mr. Whigham. "At Bag dad, or rather in a suburb of that city about two or three miles out, the English colony had a club with, say, a dozen mem bers, and I went out to play over their course.

"The links are laid out on the ruins of one of the cities built by one of the old Assy rian kings, possibly on the site of Ctes phon, and it was rather a novel exper-ence to dig up a piece of pottery 2.000 year old with every iron shot. I do not remem ber having seen any cuneiform inscriptions upon these bits of pottery, but had I stayed longer I might.

"Teheran, too, has a course, but I dinot play there.
"From Persla I went across the Caucasus to Constantinople. While there I played on the outskirts of the city, on a plain called Ak-Midan."

Mr. Wigham was one of the colony of Cannes residents who played against the team from Great Britain, and he later led the Cannes team in its match against the British team at Hoylake. In the match at Cannes he was pitted against John Graham, jr., whom he defeated easily, but at Hoylake he was up against "Johnny Ball, who, on his home course, beat him.

BASE BALL CAREER OF CHRISTY MATTHEWSON

to develop wonderful physique, as well as some good curve balls. After he had gained considerable attention while playing with the Factoryville nine, he went to Keystone (Pa.) After graduating from the academy he went to Bucknell College and by hard pulling "made the team" the first year ning, with the score a tie and a Brown for the game led him to follow it as a man o nthird base, he struck out both Hoye profession. Mathewson first played for and Jones in succession. Maycock used a money with Taunton, and afterward with Norfolk, in the Virginia League. While playing with Norfolk in 1900 he was discovered by an agent for the New York National League club, and signed a contract. That was before anything was known of drafting players. In the fall of 1900 he came to New York, and in his first game defeated Brooklyn by a score of 3 to 2. In 1901 the base ball war between the American and National Leagues was jus beginning, and Mathewson, without thought of the seriousness of his act signed a contract with the Philadelphia Athletics but later listened to good advice and renewed his contract with the New York club. That year he pitched phenomenal ball, and has kept it up ever since.

As a rule, base ball fans have the mis taken idea that Mathewson's stronghold as a pitcher is his marvelous speed. This is not true. His "long suit," as they say in whist, is his slew ball, or "fall away.
